Dr. Stephen Stein,
Associate Professor of History
University of Memphis

Stephen K. Stein earned his doctorate in military history from The Ohio State University in 1999. A specialist in naval history and the history of technology, he has written on topics ranging from ancient battles to aviation and the iPod. An experienced online teacher, he launched the department's online program in 2008 and directed it for many years thereafter. He teaches courses (both online and in the classroom) on military history, the history of technology, and the United States in the twentieth century. He is currently the Associate Chair of the Department of History at the University of Memphis and remains an adjunct professor for the U.S. Naval War College (College of Distance Education), for which he teaches courses in strategy.
